EUROPEAN COMMITTEE FOR STANDARDIZATION

CEN/TC 445

Digital Information Interchange in the Financial Industry

Workshop

Standardisation Project on Financial Data Access and Customer Permission Processes

Online | 13 January 2027 | 10:00 - 12:30 CET

Objectives

The European standards committee CEN/TC 445 will develop European standards for the customer data access and the customer permission processes in the financial sector. These standards will enable private and commercial customers to control data access and facilitate financial data access, enabling interoperable digital financial services.

This project complements the finalised draft European standard for the data access in the insurance sector with the data and interface requirements of the other financial sectors, such as credit agreements and accounts (excluding payment accounts regulated under PSR and PSD2/3), savings, investments, crypto-assets, real estate and derived benefits.

The permission processes include the information about a new data access permission granted by a customer as well as a change or withdrawal made by the customer to a permission. This project part is relevant for the whole financial sector, including insurance.

CEN/TC 445 wants to discuss this project with you as interested stakeholder in the financial sector and invites you to join the standards development which starts in February 2027.
